

Your business doesn't need AI. It needs fewer repeated tasks.

A plain filter for what's worth automating

Automation pays on repetition, not intelligence.

The valuable version is boring on purpose.

Run every task through four checks

- 01 Same steps every time
- 02 Rules, not judgment
- 03 Happens daily or weekly
- 04 Cheap to fix if it goes wrong

Automate

Missed-call text-backs

Appointment reminders

Review requests

FAQ replies

Keep human

Pricing

Complaints

Negotiation

Anything needing judgment

“The goal isn’t fewer people.
It’s fewer interruptions.”

What one automation looks like

MISSED CALL → incoming logged

AUTO-TEXT → reply with booking link

BOOKED → slot on your calendar small.

Start smaller than feels impressive

Pick one repeated task. Automate only that, and let it run for a month before touching the next one. Boring wins compound.

Done wondering what's automatable?

Send Night Ace the most repetitive task in your week — we'll tell you in plain language whether it's worth automating.